CORPORATE SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY

PARIS, 24.05.2023, 05:55 Time

USPA NEWS - Advertising, it's a Commonplace, feeds a Lot of Fantasies. Is its Golden Age Over? After the Three Decades of the 70s, 80s and 90s, corresponding schematizing, to Three Consecutive Decades of Emancipation, Excess, then Dullness, the "Explosive" Years of the Internet arrived, then those of Mobile, Social,... as if the Digital Big Bang never ceased to transform it.

Advertising, it's a Commonplace, feeds a Lot of Fantasies. Is its Golden Age Over? After the Three Decades of the 70s, 80s and 90s, corresponding schematizing, to Three Consecutive Decades of Emancipation, Excess, then Dullness, the "Explosive" Years of the Internet arrived, then those of Mobile, Social,... as if the Digital Big Bang never ceased to transform it.

Are our 20s ushering in a Period of Sobriety? Is this Sobriety a Slightly more Moderate Substitute for the Austerity the French no longer want? Advertising Professionals have decided and prefer the New Era of Respons. Because Yes, you can be a Passionate Advertiser and have a Deep Concern for the Common Good, the Environment, the Planet, Quite Simply.

Many Efforts have been made, without waiting for Regulations, by Players in Our Ecosystem. First in Isolation, then in a Shared or Corporatist Way (in The Good Term), then finally in a Collective Attitude aimed at Harmonizing the Measures. On a Planetary Scale, COP 28 urges us to do so: it is Time to develop Regional Collaboration on Climate Change.

The Ambition of UDECAM Meetings, more Modest, is also to Facilitate Exchanges around all these Initiatives, to make them Converge Towards a Common Objective of Reducing the Environmental Footprint of our Activity. And since Corporate Responsibility is also Social and Societal, UDECAM does not forget to Salute, Promote, and Even-Hope-To-Inspire the Efforts of our Companies and therefore Lobally of our Society, in Terms of Inclusion, Diversity and Pedagogy on All These Topics.
